

NANCY WYNNE TALKS OF CHARITIES TO BE GIVEN DURING WINTER

A Series of Morning Musicales Will Be Given at the Bellevue-Stratford on Six Dates in November, December, January and February

NOT ONLY do we arrange dates for debuts many months ahead of time, but affairs for charity and their accompanying details are thought out and planned for far in advance.

Quite a small colony of Philadelphians has descended upon Northeast Harbor this year. Mrs. Ned Benson, who is certainly one of our very prettiest matrons, has taken the Foster cottage there, and the Benjamin West Frazer has taken the Wrights' place, on Rock End avenue.

What are we coming to, I ask you, when in one of our leading resort hotels one sees such sights as I saw in the last week? I was dining and talking to some friends when my words were interrupted by an astonished exclamation, and my mouth, I regret to say, hung open wide, for opposite to me at a small table sat a dignified lady (a grandmother at that) and in front of her on a chair was a dachshund.
